New online tool to help determine need for COVID testing

Alberta Health Services (AHS) has developed a simple online assessment tool to help people decide whether they need to be tested for COVID-19.

Available at ahs.ca/covid, this tool asks questions about symptoms and takes users through steps to help determine whether they should call Health Link at 811 for testing.

"AHS teams have come together to ensure we are protecting each other and keeping Albertans healthy and safe. Health Link is an important tool for Albertans right now," says AHS President and CEO Dr. Verna Yiu. "Our staff are working to respond quickly to those who need to be assessed for COVID-19. This tool can help us reduce call volumes, keep the lines open for those with serious symptoms and reassure those Albertans who don't need testing right now."

If you have symptoms such as fever, cough and difficulty breathing, and have travelled outside Canada, or have been exposed to someone who has COVID-19, stay home and call Health Link at 811. If you are not seriously ill, do not go to a physician's office, a healthcare facility or a lab without consulting with Health Link first. Call 911, if you are seriously ill and need immediate medical attention and inform them you may have COVID-19. If you aren't sure, visit the online tool at ahs.ca/covid or go to alberta.ca/covid19 for more information.

"We all want to stop the spread of COVID-19. Identifying and isolating people infected with COVID-19 is a critical way to help stop the spread," says Tyler Shandro, Alberta's Minister of Health. "This tool will help you decide whether you need a swab to determine if you have COVID-19, without leaving your home, which can help us further contain the spread."

Alberta Health Services is the provincial health authority responsible for planning and delivering health supports and services for more than four million adults and children living in Alberta. Its mission is to provide a patient-focused, quality health system that is accessible and sustainable for all Albertans.

Share kindness to boost your happiness

Kindness is defined as the quality of being friendly, generous and considerate. Every day we hear stories about people trying to make the world a better place. Together, we can make the world a little bit kinder for all of us.

Just one act of kindness a day can help reduce stress, anxiety and depression. It can also release feel-good hormones in your body, so you and the person you helped:

- Feel calmer, healthier and happier
 - More loving and loved
 - More energy, with less aches and pains
- Kindness helps you and others by:
- Enhancing positivity

- Changing your perspective
- Creating a sense of community
- Helping us feel connected to others
- Reducing stress.
- Simple ways to spread kindness:
- Volunteer
- Help a friend or neighbor
- Ask someone how they are feeling
- Offer support and encouragement to others
- Say good morning and smile
- Make someone laugh
- Be generous with compliments
- Leave a kind note for someone special.
- Kindness is contagious. Pass it on!

Being grateful promotes happiness, a positive outlook

What are you grateful for? Maybe you've got a new car, bought a big-screen TV, or scored a promotion you've been wanting. It feels great—but only for a little while.

It turns out that our set happiness points are 50 per cent predetermined by genetics, 10 per cent by life circumstances and 40 per cent by intentional activities and practices. This means that a huge part of what makes us happy is within our power to change.

Gratitude is one easy and well-proven skill that can actually help improve our set happiness point.

Practicing gratitude can help improve our mental health and reduce stress. It can help create a more positive outlook on life, which helps keep us more emotionally balanced. It can also help us pay attention to the good things in life and savour them. It prevents us from taking things for granted, and it helps train us to see more good things in life.

Here are some ways to be grateful:

Keep a gratitude journal. Make it a habit to think about positive or good things you are grateful for daily, and write them down.

Reflect through mindfulness, meditation or relaxation. Take time to be still and calm and focus on the present moment. List those things you are grateful for—maybe a sunny day, a hot shower, your home, a good friend, or a nice cup of tea.

Thank someone. Nurture your meaningful relationships. Send a thank-you card or leave a note to someone you are grateful to have in your life.

Give back. Return the kindness that someone has extended to you.

Practice small gestures. Sometimes all it takes is a smile, handshake or wave to express your thanks.

CONSTRUCTION NOTICE

Beaumaris Lake Open Space Rehabilitation

Edmonton

Dear Resident,

Construction on the Beaumaris Lake Open Space Rehabilitation Project is scheduled to begin on March 30, 2020 with tree clearing activities.

Removal of certain trees will begin the week of March 30, 2020 and take approximately two weeks. The removal of the trees is required to build a new shared use path, viewpoints and parks, improve sightlines, and address the recommendations contained in the projects Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) report. Access to and around the boat launch/viewpoints on the north side of the lake and the West Park will be impacted between approximately March 30 – April 2.

The work may create noise and vibrations which will have a short-term impact on adjacent residents. All City of Edmonton contract workers are required to abide by the City's Community Standards Bylaw 14600 which restricts noise levels and hours of work.

Residents can expect to see construction equipment in the affected areas. Please watch for signage in the area.

Trees are highly valued City of Edmonton assets and are only removed when all other preservation options are unsuitable. Removal of these trees conforms to the Migratory Bird Act, which requires removal at this time to minimize disruption of nesting birds. In compliance with

City of Edmonton Policy C456B Corporate Tree Management Policy, the City Forestry group will be assessing the project for the affected tree asset values and new trees will be planted as part of the landscaping scope of the work.

Full construction will start in late spring of 2020 and will be completed between spring 2020 and later 2021.

PLEASE RESPECT ALL SIGNAGE AND OBEY STAFF DIRECTION IN THIS ACTIVE WORK ZONE.

Thank you

Help Fred get groceries to his neighbour

Lorelei-Beaumaris Community League

16220 103 Street NW • Edmonton, AB T5X 3A9

780 686 4415 • www.lbcl.ca • presidentlbcl@gmail.com

To our valued community members,
I hope that this letter finds all of you healthy and safe.

First and foremost, we would like to send a HUGE THANK YOU to all healthcare workers, grocery stores and pharmacy employees, delivery truck and bus drivers, first respondents and other front-line employees. To all those who are getting things done, who are making sure that our country, our province, our city, our neighborhoods are well supported and supplied with all necessities.

This is unprecedented and challenging times and we all rely on one another more than ever before. I know that it has not been easy to manage the stress, juggle family commitments, worry about and care for friends and relatives.

It is normal to feel scared, stressed, and confused. Reduce the amount of time you watch or discuss stressful news. Stay updated, but limit your sources of information to Red Cross, government websites, and the World Health Organization.

We are all expected to implement social distancing, some of us are in self-isolation. It does not mean, however, that we have to be in social isolation. In these uncertain and stressful times contact your family, reach out to your friends. Talking to people you trust will help you and them to deal with the complexities of the current situation.

It is extremely impressive how communities across Canada have come together to support each other. We, Canadians, coined the term “care-mongering.” If you are able and willing to help, but do not know how, you can, for example, join any of Facebook groups that provide assistance to those most vulnerable. You can also connect with your neighbours and offer them a helping hand.

We are all in this together! Our resilience will help us to come out of this peril stronger than ever. Take care of yourselves and each other. Trust in the best of people and treat each other with the utmost respect.

Oksana Delgado

City protects public, workers from COVID-19 risks

The City of Edmonton is taking steps to protect people and places from risks associated with the COVID-19 virus.

City Council has suspended regularly-scheduled Council and Committee meetings and public hearings until Monday, March 30, 2020, and will reassess at that time.

“We understand that this is a very challenging time for our community. Right now we will focus our full attention on making the decisions necessary to deal with the public impacts of a rapidly-changing public health situation,” said Mayor Don Iveson.

“As an organization responsible for public services and an employer committed to health and safety, we are following the direction of Alberta Health in keeping Edmontonians safe,” said Interim City Manager Adam Laughlin. “Cleaning practices, events and public programs will change.”

Edmonton Transit Service disinfects and cleans buses and trains daily as standard practice. There are also standard cleaning practices in recreation centres. Effective immediately, cleaning activities for both services are being enhanced in both intensity and frequency.

To minimize the risk of exposure, the City is adjusting events and programs:

- While recreation centres will remain open, attendance at smaller leisure centres will be limited up to 50 people. Larger community recreation centres will limit attendance to up to 50 people per amenity (e.g. gyms, pools, fitness centres). Kids’ dens and indoor playgrounds will close. Registered and drop-in programs that are led by an instructor are cancelled until further notice. Programs not led by an instructor are still available at this time. All patrons are asked to practice social distancing, and those who are ill are asked to stay home.

- Mill Woods Seniors Association,

North Edmonton Seniors Association and Central Lions Seniors Association will be closed as of Sunday, March 15.

- City-led public engagement events and information sessions are cancelled until further notice. Visit the project web page for other potential engagement options.

- City Hall tours and City Hall School are cancelled until further notice.

- Station tours and community events involving Edmonton Fire Rescue Services personnel are cancelled until further notice.

- All City attractions are being assessed, and decisions will be made regarding the appropriateness of staying open.

Measures have also been taken within the City workforce. Business-related travel and in-person training for City staff has been cancelled. Non-essential in-person meetings are being scaled back, and where possible they will be accommodated with technology instead.

Temporary work-from-home arrangements are being instituted, under appropriate circumstances. Staff with flu-like symptoms are required to stay home from work, and those returning from international travel are required to self-isolate. Guidelines for supervisors on how to support workers who are worried that they may be at risk have been provided, and supports are available for staff who test positive for or have been exposed to the virus.

As circumstances change, Council and a cross-departmental task team will make additional decisions and redeploy resources as needed to meet changing needs. Frequently-updated information will be provided online at edmonton.ca/covid-19.
